A photograph of a multi-lane highway filled with semi-trucks, illustrating traffic congestion. The trucks are of various colors, including red, blue, and white. The truck in the immediate foreground is a red Volvo with a tan container. Behind it, a blue truck with a dark blue container is visible, followed by another blue truck with a red container, and then several white trucks. The trucks are packed closely together, and their headlights are on, suggesting it might be early morning or late afternoon. The word "CONGESTION" is overlaid in large white letters across the middle of the image.
